Festival Fever

Irreecha & Beyond

Sacred lakes, colors, songs, and the living heartbeat of Oromo culture.

Irreecha, the annual thanksgiving festival of the Oromo people, is a vibrant celebration of nature, community, and gratitude. Held at sacred lakes such as Hora Arsadi and Hora Harsadi, the festival fills the air with songs, dances, and colorful traditional attire.

Beyond Irreecha, Oromia hosts a variety of cultural festivals where music, rituals, and local crafts showcase the living heartbeat of Oromo heritage, offering travelers an immersive experience of joy, spirituality, and tradition.
